II. Translation II: Please translate the following paragraphs into Chinese, 15 points for each question.

1. The recent march for democracy in Hong Kong earlier this month highlights the inadequacies of applying People's Republic of China's "One Country, Two Systems" formula in Taiwan, according to experts on cross-strait relations at a forum organized by the Friends of Hong Kong and Macau Association.
2. Academia Sinica passed a resolution suggesting that the government establish an independent "national land planning commission" and write a "national land environment law" to govern the future use and development of land.
3. The College Entrance Examination Center has already received a barrage of attacks for not postponing exams earlier this month when the typhoon wreaked havoc in central, eastern and southern Taiwan.
4. Everyone is opposed to pollution. It is difficult publicly to oppose clean air or clean water laws—who wants to stand up for dirt? Thus the environmentalists begin with a psychological and political advantage: they are "clean" and their opponents are "dirty."
